SAILOR WITH OPIUM IS PLACED UNDER ARREST

Another Chinese has discovered that it is not easy to smuggle opium into Honolulu from the mainland. His name is Ching Dai. He is a member of the crew of an American Hawaiian freighter. The opium is valued at approximately $400 at Honolulu prices.

the vessel with four 5-lb tins of smoking opium concealed on his person. Customs Inspector Johnny O'Neil was on duty at the gangplank. The Chinese got no further than the foot of the plank, was searched, the opium found, and then got a free ride to the U. S. district attorney's office. He is awaiting trial today.

MAYOR LANE SAYS ATTACKS ON HIM ARE FALSEHOODS

Republicans Hold Big Mass Meeting on Punchbowl and Smaller on Puunui

MEETINGS TODAY

Republican—Seaside grounds, 7:30.
Liliha and School streets, 7:30.
J. C. Cohen—Waikane, 7:30.

Declaring that he had done as much as any man could do under the existing laws, Mayor John C. Lane, Republican candidate for reelection, made a stirring talk last night, taking up point by point the charges which the Democrats and J. C. Cohen are making against him and sweepingly branding them as false.

The meeting was held at the corner of Luau and Miller streets and was unusually well attended. Fully 100 voters were present and every speaker was loudly applauded. Manuel Serpa was chairman. A string orchestra enlivened the occasion. There was another Republican meeting at the corner of Liliha and Puunui streets, but because of the rain which started early in the evening it was not largely attended.

Six Years Makes Changes

Honolulu six years ago was not the city it is today. The roads on Punchbowl then were not what they are now. And in the same way the government of the city has changed, but the legislature has not changed the laws to keep up with the progress and it is, therefore, extremely difficult to run the city's government as it should be run," the mayor said.

"The Democrats say I am a silk hat mayor and an extravagant. Now when you elected me mayor you raised me to a dignity which I am bound to maintain. This city is becoming a great tourist center. Prominent people, whom I have to entertain, come here. The $1200 which is given for entertainment is a mere pittance compared with what the mayors of San Francisco and Los Angeles receive, both tourist cities. The businessmen give money for publicity. Is it wrong then for your mayor to use the $1200 to send people away with aloha for the islands?"

"It is only necessary to investigate these charges to know that they are false. Therefore, gentlemen, are you going to elect men like Joseph Lightfoot and J. J. Fern, who are lying to you?" he said.

"For what I have done I want full credit and absolutely refuse to share it with the other members of the board," is the way Ben Hollinger opened his attack last night on the city council. He declared he is a concerned citizen and the Arnold and Larsen forces to be little his work on the board.

Hollinger Out For Self

"When I went on the board I was made chairman of the park and school committee, known as the 'baby committee.' I have made it one of the most important committees," continued Hollinger. "Do you think, therefore, that I am going to credit what I have done alone to the other members? I am not. It is due to my own efforts that I stand before you with this record. I have improved the parks, made the schools better than they ever were, given you a zoo, raised your salaries, given you Sunday movies and introduced the traffic cop. I am out for Ben Hollinger in this campaign and not the board and am willing to stand on my record."

David Kalanika, county clerk, out for reelection, made a very eloquent talk and received a big hand. He declared that it is the duty of the clerk to protect the city's interests as no improvement can go forward without his signature. He said he had kept careful watch during his terms and had guarded not only the city's but their interests. "When the Filipinos demanded that I should let them vote I refused and the courts sustained me," he said.

Brown Stands For Justice

A. M. Brown, city attorney, said that when a man is arrested he does not prosecute him just for the sake of persecution, but carefully investigates the case and if he finds it would be better to give him another chance he does so and will continue to do so regardless of criticism because he believes it to be the only way to give justice.

Charles Bellina, candidate for supervisor, said he was a new man and had no political record but he did have ideas on the high cost of living, and if elected he believed he could help the community.

Charles N. Arnold, supervisor, said he was glad that the people on Lusitana street would have the money which they paid for the concrete

Joe Fern Campaigns On High-Flour Issue And Voters 'Holler'

"Joe Fern has 'em all beat as a campaigner, particularly in the fifth district," said a Republican "war-horse" today. "Joe got up at a political meeting in Kalihi the other night. This was his speech:

"Mr. Lady and Gentleman: That time I was mayor, two years ago, you remember flour only one dollar half a sack. Now Mister John Lane, he mayor. Look flour now! Four-fifty a sack. You vote for me!"

"And believe me," said the Republican, shaking his head sadly, "Joe is getting away with that kind of stuff. They holler that a night so you could hear 'em a mile and Joe is getting quite a few of those kind of hollers."

REPUBLICANS PLAN FOR BIG RALLIES TONIGHT

The big Republican meeting this evening will be at the Seaside grounds and several well known businessmen are scheduled to speak besides the candidates. R. W. Shingle, J. W. Cathcart and Charles F. Chillingworth will be there to boost for the Republican party. The Hawaiian band will also play.

The other Republican meeting is at the corner of Liliha and School streets. At that meeting A. L. Castle, E. C. Peters and W. O. Smith will address the audience.

INTERNAL REVENUE MEN DONATE TO RED CROSS

In response to a request made by Secretary of the Treasury W. G. McAdoo for a voluntary contribution to the American Red Cross, all men in the local internal revenue office have contributed of their means.

Secretary McAdoo's letter has gone forth to some 30,000 treasury department officials and employees, each of whom is asked to contribute from 50 cents to $5 according to his means. The secretary makes it plain that he wants the gift to spring entirely from a sense of patriotism, not from any order of the department.

BOURBONS CLOSE FIRST SERIES OF RALLIES IN TOWN

Rest of Week Will Be Devoted to Oratory Fests in the Country

TONIGHT'S MEETINGS

Tonight's Democratic primary campaign meetings will be held at Waipahu and Alea at 7:30 o'clock.

Bringing to a close this week's series of primary campaign meetings in Honolulu, Democrat aspirants for city and county offices held forth last night in Ohua lane, Waikiki, and at Wilder avenue and Metcalf streets. Both meetings were well attended and practically all of the candidates were heard at each place.

Prof. William A. Bryan, one of the managers of the present Bourbon campaign, opened the meeting in Punahou and urged the voters to cast their ballots for the Democrats, declaring that many persons are practically ready to concede that the Democratic supervisors gave a better administration than the present board of supervisors.

Hugo Kanaka, who is after a position on the board of city dads, was the first candidate to speak. He said that, if he was elected, there would be no favoritism as far as he personally was concerned, and that he would work for the rich and poor alike. Conkling on Grill

City Treasurer D. L. Conkling came in for a mild grilling at the hands of Deputy Sheriff Julius Asch, Bourbon candidate for that position. Asch said he had every right in the world to plead his cause; it was he was a son of the soil and had been in the legislature, had been chief clerk of the police department and was now deputy sheriff of Honolulu.

"I promise to give my entire time to the city and county if elected," he said. "I will be on the job eight hours a day and will earn the salary of the office. I will not go on the outside and accept two or three positions and devote my time to them rather than to the government."

"Conkling now holds two outside positions that I know of, aside from that of treasurer, and he may be holding others."

J. R. Pierce and W. H. McClellan, candidates for the board of supervisors, were the next speakers. McClellan, who, was chairman of the ways and means, or finance, committee of the last board of supervisors, said that, when his term expired, his committee left a cash balance in every fund under its control.

"But things have been different with the present Republican board," he continued. "It has had $130,000 more than the former board to spend for government and road work, and some $280,000 more altogether."

"Mayor Lane has practically admitted that he has made mistakes and that he has had a weak administration."

Attorney Joseph Lightfoot, candidate for city attorney, confined his remarks to the present condition of the office he is now seeking. The fight between Lightfoot and City Attorney A. M. Brown has not become as bitter as was anticipated, some of the politicians declare.

H. M. Ayres, candidate for supervisor, declared that, from all indications, the people are not satisfied with the administration of the present board of supervisors. The people, he declared, wanted men on the board who display honesty, a certain degree of fearlessness, considerable ability and sound judgment and who would give a square deal.

Ioela Kiakahi, although not a candidate, opened the meeting at Ohua lane with a long speech in Hawaiian in which he referred to the qualifications of every candidate on the Democratic ticket. Frank Benevides, candidate for supervisor, spoke briefly on the purported failings of the present board.

A bill calling for a referendum on the question of woman suffrage at the general election in 1918, was passed by the Wisconsin senate.

The tax office insists that you take your tax bill with you when paying your taxes before May 15. Make separate checks for Honolulu and Country districts.—Adv.

Clarence D. Pringle

Democratic Candidate for Mayor, subject to the will of the voters of the City and County of Honolulu.

Penikala, kekei o Palolo, Ko'u moto:

"He Kauwa na ka lehalahu."

The mayor of Honolulu should give all his time to the service of the city. He should be familiar with the details of all the departments of the city government. That's why the people put him in office. That's why they give him the salary and the prestige. It is the duty of the mayor to so familiarize himself with the affairs of the city that he can render instant help to any supervisor seeking information. Honolulu should not be a kindergarten for beginners. It is a big business corporation requiring the attention of an expert.

J. C. COHEN.

PREPAREDNESS

I will at all times be prepared to guard the People's Interests and give Sound Business Management for this municipality.

WM. H. HOOGS

Mayor Lane says:

Do you know that it takes 6 months or a year for a new mayor, whether a businessman or not, to become familiar with his duties?

Do you know the inevitable result of this delay in its relation to the program of improvements for Honolulu?

Do you know that the $1,500,000 of improvements under way will be retarded at least 6 months unless you select a mayor who is familiar and in accord with these projects.

Do you know the result of the Automobile Club's successful legislative campaign is at stake unless the present appointive heads of city government—Fire, Electric Light, Water and Sewer, and Road Engineer—are continued in office?

Do you know that my opponents would not keep these administrative heads in office should either be elected?

Do you know that there is a well-organized movement among the Democrats to nominate Cohen at the primaries and then defeat him at the general election? Why? The Democrats believe Cohen cannot possibly be elected.
